DeVos Family Backs Tudor Dixon for Governor

GRAND HAVEN, MI -- The DeVos Family, including 2006 gubernatorial nominee Dick DeVos, U.S. Secretary of Education under President Trump Betsy DeVos, and Amway co-chairman Doug DeVos, have announced their support for Tudor Dixon's commonsense campaign to get Michigan's economy and kids back on track.

"The DeVos family have decided to stand with Tudor Dixon as being the next, right governor for the state of Michigan," said Dick DeVos. "We think Tudor, as a business leader and a mom, has the experience, the passion, and a plan to put the state back on track."

The DeVos' are major employers in Michigan and longtime advocates for improving education for every student in the state. They shared their support for Dixon's 25x25 plan to fix Lansing and help Michigan families recover from the damage caused by Gretchen Whitmer's failed policies.

"I am honored to have the DeVos family's support as we enter this new phase of our campaign to defeat Gretchen Whitmer and forge a family-friendly future for Michigan," said Tudor Dixon.

"Our message is straightforward. We want Michigan to be the best state in the country to live in, work, run a business, raise a family, and retire. Michigan's families deserve good schools, good jobs, safe neighborhoods, reliable infrastructure, and a responsive government that serves their interests. With that in mind, we look forward to continuing to travel the state, sharing our message with the voters, and working hard to earn their support. I will always answer to the people of Michigan, and it is to them I will be accountable."
